

Production Night Interviews

BY: Silas, Elias & Gus

During the spring of 2016 MDCS had a wonderful program called Spring Production. Our Production Night focuses on grades on K-5 but in this article we be talking about grade 5 (our grade). During this program students have a chance to act out what they have been learning about. In this article we will be interviewing students that participated in this activity.

At this time we will be interviewing Sven (a MDCS 5th grader). He played as a dream guide in the Civil War section of Production Night. He is being interviewed by Elias (our ace reporter).

Q# 1: How do you think Production Night went? A. I think that Production Night went well because everybody remembered their lines and spoke very clearly and loudly. Q# 2: Did you enjoy performing? If yes then why? A, I enjoyed performing because I enjoy publicity, Sven said. Q# 3: How did you think that the other 5th grade students did? And why? A. Great! Gus and Silas were human waste which was very funny.

Now we will be interviewing Ben.

Q#1 how do you think production night went? Why? A, I think Production Night went well because the digestive system is a laughable subject. Q#2 did you enjoy performing? And why ? A, I enjoyed performing because it was just so enjoyable. Q#3 how did you think the other 5th grade performers did?

Why? A. I think that the other 5th grade performers did well because they looked very smart even if their play was at a little slower pace.

All the 5th graders did very well on their Production Night performances and received many congratulations from the teachers and parents. In the end, all fifth graders did a stupendous job!!
